For her warmth, her genuine concern for Huntingdon College and its students, her welcoming of a free exchange of frank ideas and opinions with students, and her never ceasing diligence in presenting Huntingdon's best image to the community and the world—this book is affectionately dedicated to Mrs. Catherine Lamar.

Look around you. Now think back. Is Huntingdon College the same place it was when you entered it? No, even the freshmen must admit that a lot of things have changed. What's been going on? What was the difference this year? Were you aware of a new attitude, a new feeling on campus? Did it slip up on you? It is a feeling of optimism—new this year. We have accepted the facts of a smaller student body, of decreased finances, of the privations that must come. And yet, with our acceptance has come a new outlook: this school will not die. It cannot; the old Huntingdon has subtly passed on and lives only in the minds of alumni. On its former campus stands a new school. A bold assumption? The rebirth of a college? How can it be so? Think back. Look around you . . .

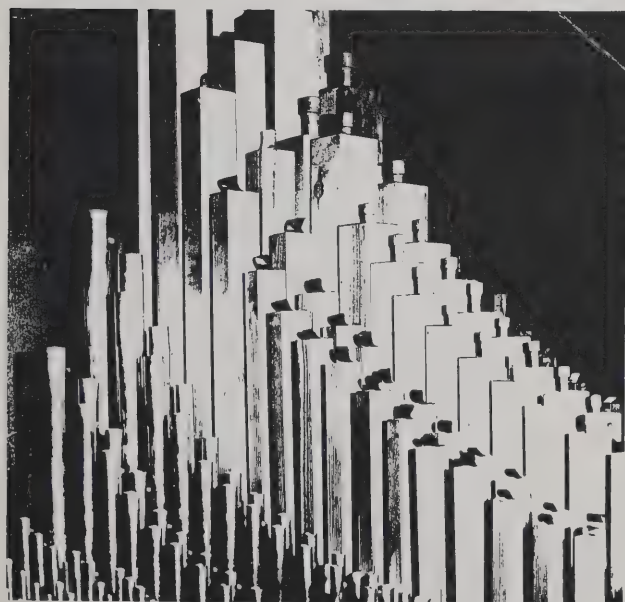

Look at the students having fun. There seemed to be more happy people here this year . . . Going to the show, throwing frisbees, playing a guitar, roller skating, pep rallying, drinking—simple things—showed a somewhat more joyous attitude on the part of students.

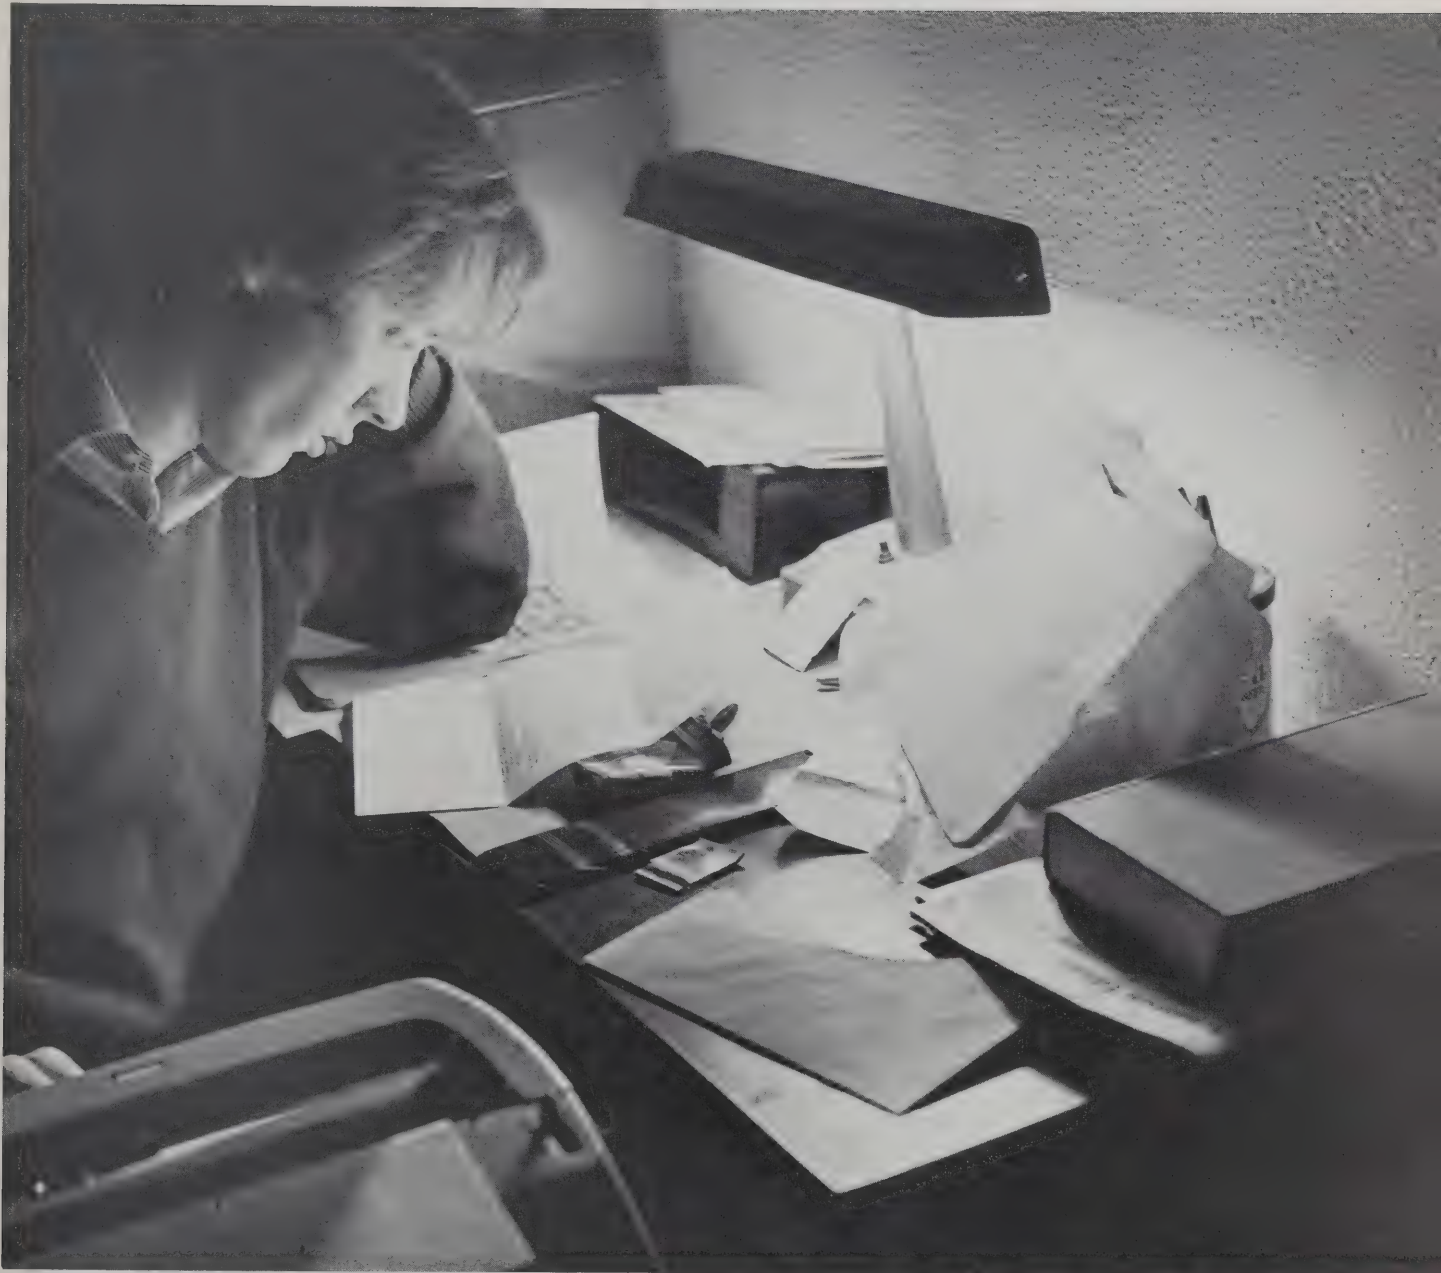

Buddhism, Christianity, Jesus Freakism, or the hedonism of a card game in the bookstore—each enriched the religious life of students, whatever their religion¹¹ was.

Political activism, sometimes manifested in unorthodox ways, showed a new interest in life outside the cloister of Huntingdon.

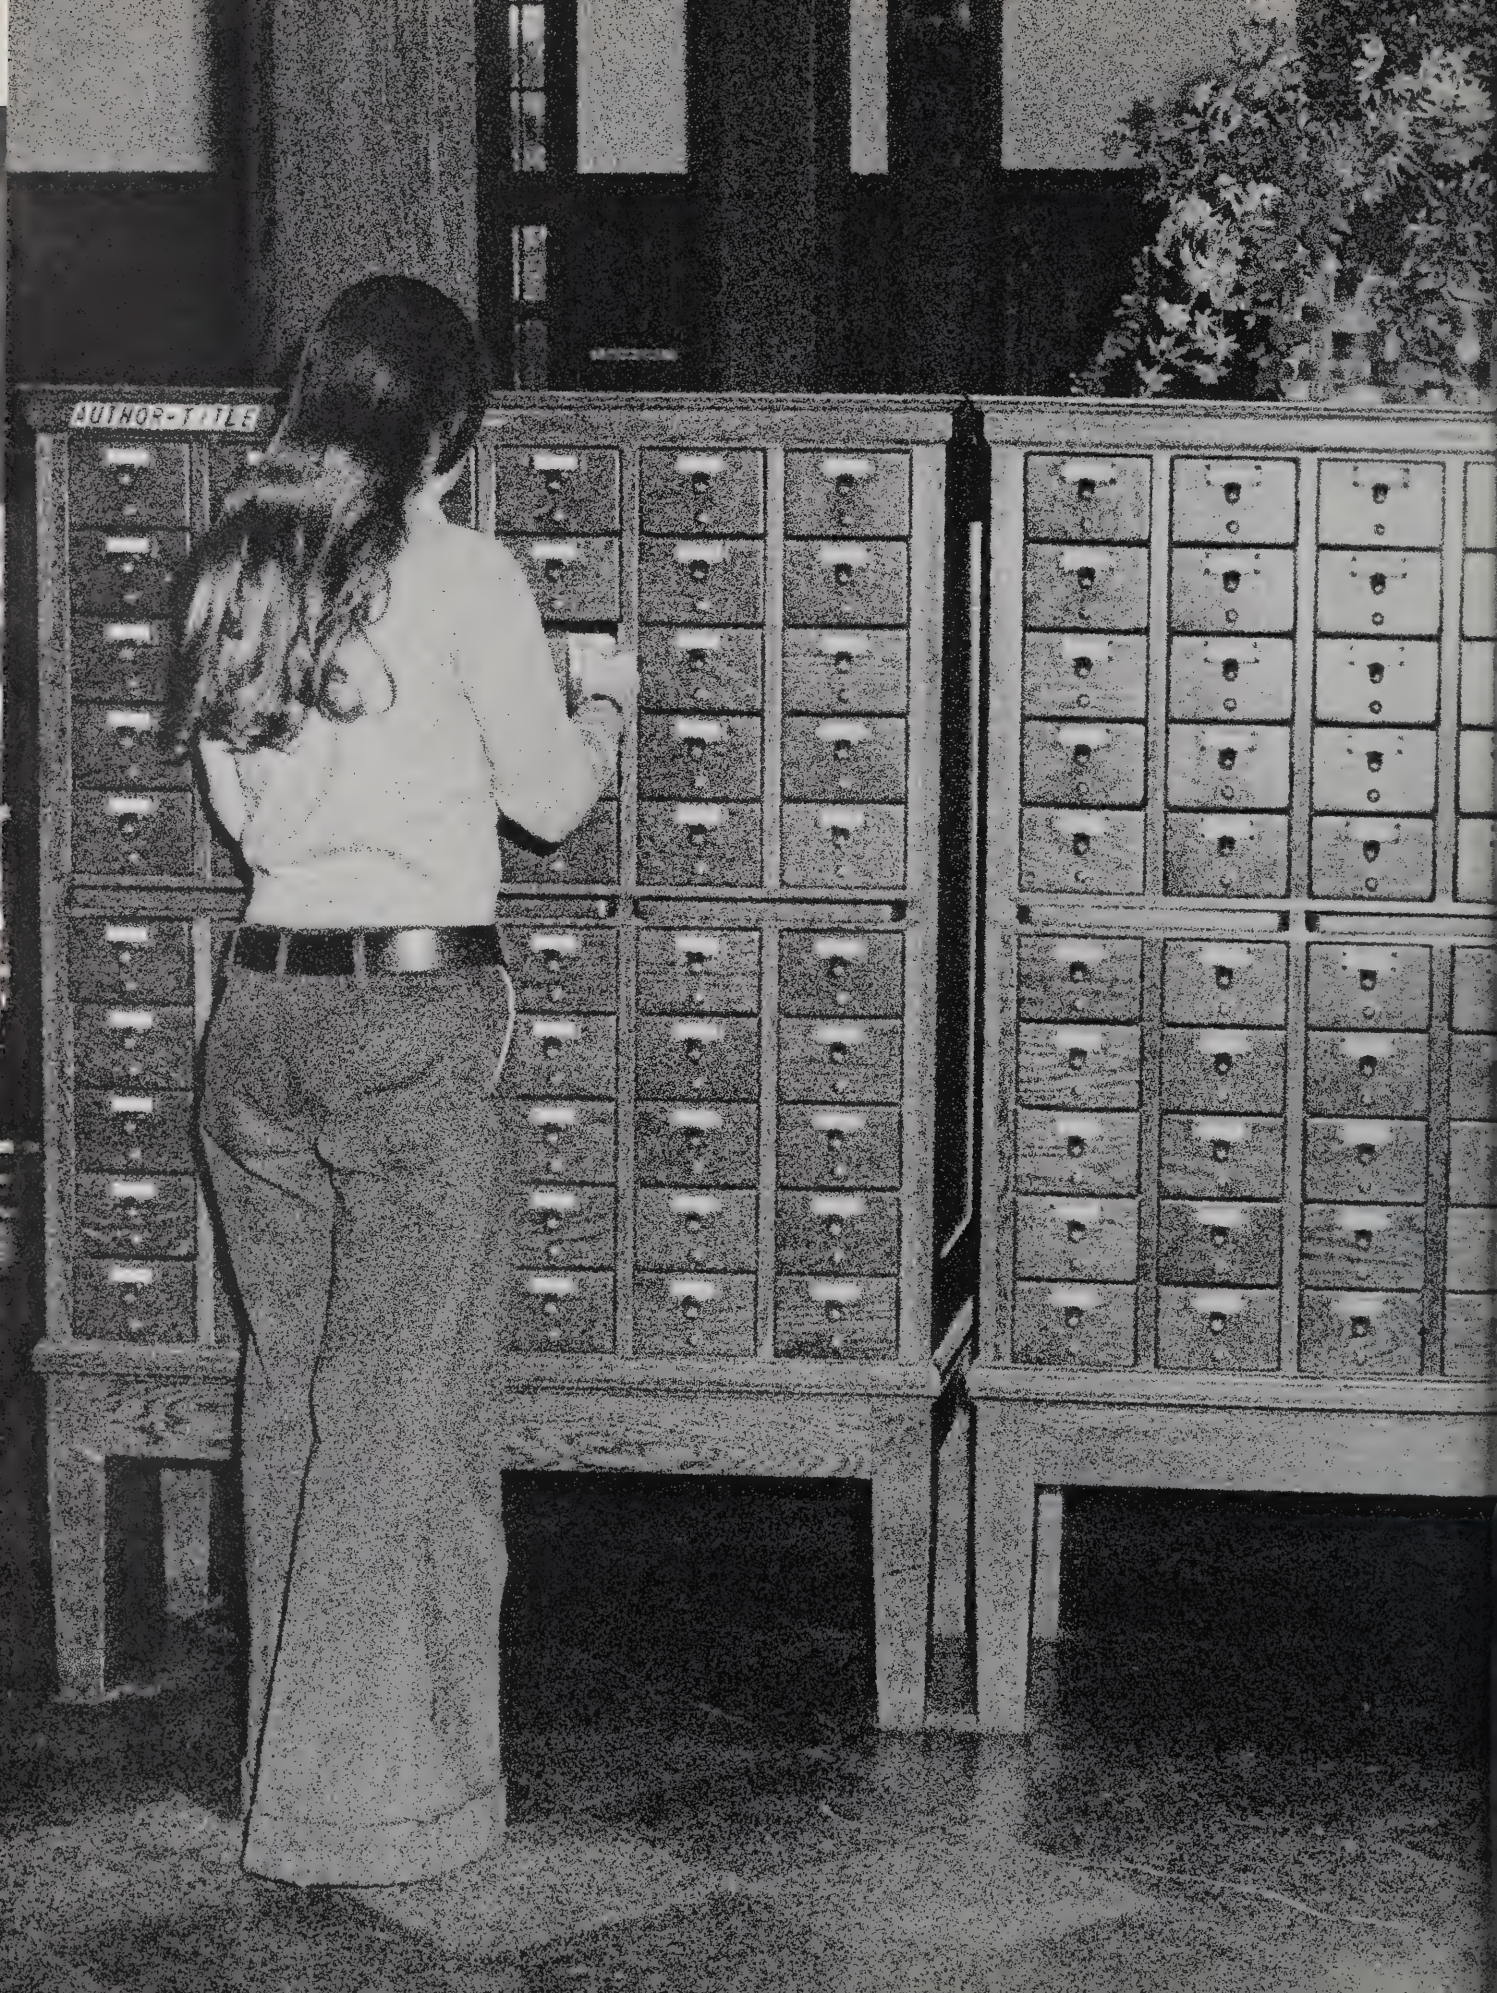

A new attitude toward study was seen in a revived interest in learning for its own sake, students imbibing knowledge with their food, or the symbolic burning of quantities of midnight oil in a solitary dormitory room in the early hours of the morning.

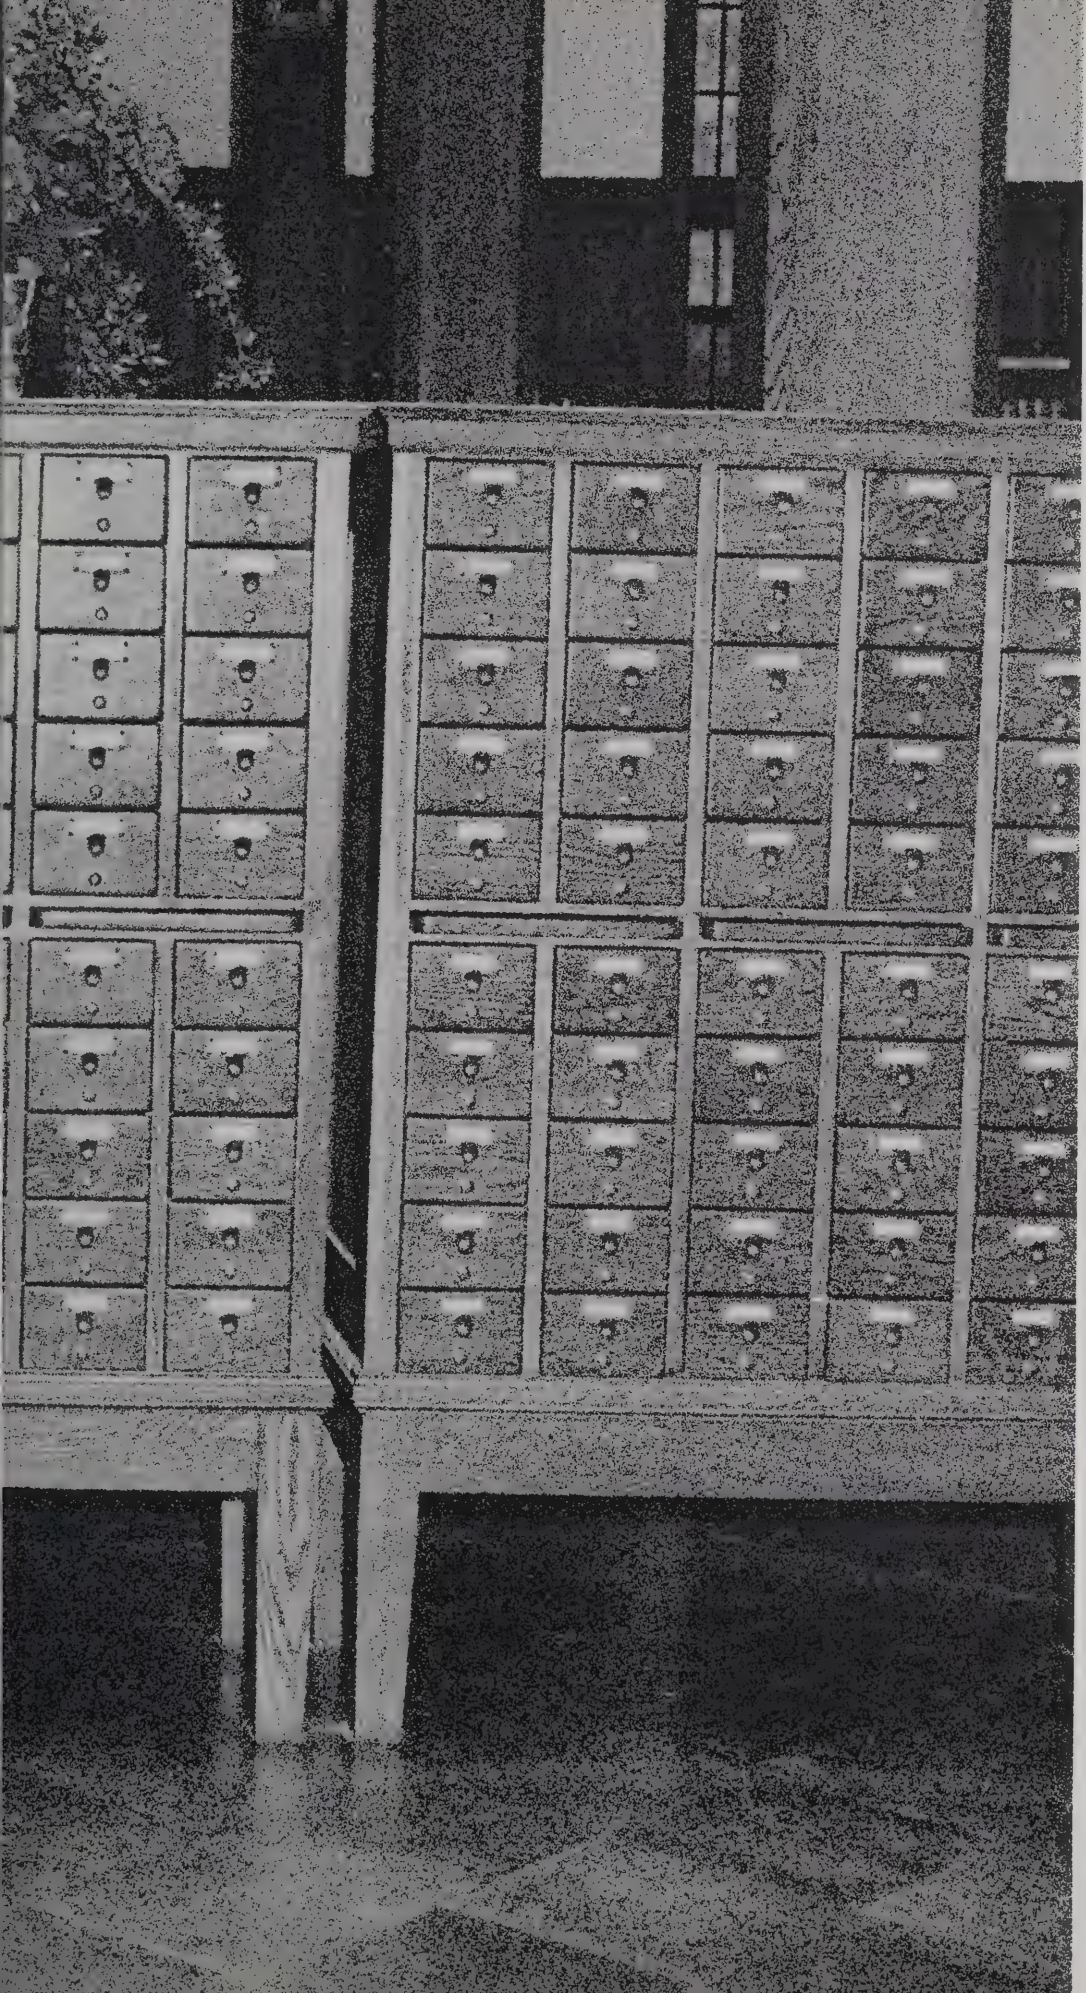

Thinking and looking back, these were some few of the aspects of the rebirth of Huntingdon College which were evident. More than a bold assumption, the rebirth of Huntingdon stands for a new school. Think ahead. Look toward the future

DEPARTMENTS

Dr. Gordon Chappell, Professor of History, Chairman

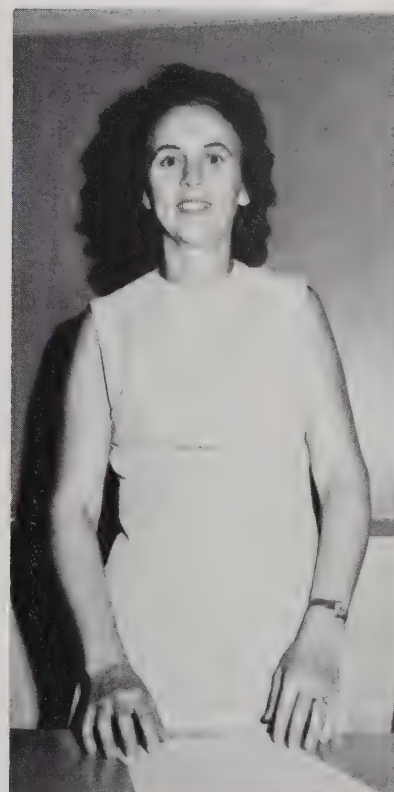

Mrs. Margaret Bailey, Assistant Professor of History

History Department Remains Relevant, Mixes Past with Present

The tremendous success of Mrs. Bailey's "dig" last year led to a demand for a repeat performance this year. Archaeological Finds and Early Man was again a study of methods and tools used by archaeologists in planning and carrying out an archaeological dig, reconstructing artifacts and dating ancient finds. The most popular part of the Inter-term project was the field trip in which students were allowed to participate in an actual dig.

Black Culture—U.S.A was the title of Mrs. Newton's Inter-term offering in conjunction with Dr. Pickard. Dealing with the role of Blacks in the making of America, the course included an introductory section on African backgrounds and stressed contributions in art and music.

Dr. Chappell's annual excursions again proved to be popular. A trip to Greenville was a highlight of the fall, providing history students with a glimpse into the Old South. Horseshoe Bend apparently has not diminished in popularity; a large group of department majors trudged over the battlefield and through the museum and then ate with relish the hot dogs and potato salad of Mrs. Chappell.

Mrs. Merlin Newton, Instructor in History

Dr. Emory Head, Associate Professor of English, Chairman

The Department of Languages and Literature made substantial contributions to the cultural and academic life of the college this year. Mrs. Emily Stone, Associate Professor of English, spoke in a Cultural Events Series Convocation on "Faulkner Revisited." Drawing upon her late husband's association with William Faulkner, Mrs. Stone presented a fascinating lecture on the life and works of the famous author. The Rhoda Ellison Creative Writers Lecture Series again presented a noted writer for the Cultural Events Series. Although it had not yet been announced, it was expected that a prominent author would present readings of his works and meet informally with students to discuss literary trends.

Religion and Philosophy

Dr. Barnes Tatum, Associate Professor of Religion and Philosophy,
Chairman

Dr. Louise Panigot, Professor of Religion and Philosophy

The Department of Religion and Philosophy reasserted its relevance to today's society by joining with the History Department in an inter-term project titled Black Culture—U.S.A. Dealing with the unique world of American Blacks—their history and its repercussions, their pressing problems and possible solutions, and their particular contributions to America—the study allowed meetings with local groups and leaders of the Black Community of Montgomery.

Not to be outdone by the VPA Department in regard to trips abroad, Dr. Tatum took a group of students to Israel and Greece. Each student developed his own project dealing with historical and theological developments in the two countries.

The department brought two speakers to the Cultural Events Series: Dr. Jami-son Jones of Iliff Theological Seminary spoke first semester and Dr. Thomas Langford, Dean of the Duke Divinity School, spoke second semester.

The Religion and Philosophy Department continued to offer three majors: religion, philosophy, and religion and philosophy.

Dr. William A. Pickard, Assistant Professor of Religion and Philosophy

Dr. R. Glenn Massengale, Professor of Religion and Philosophy

Dr. James Elson, Associate Professor of Music, Chairman

Visual and Performing Arts Gets New Head

The Department of Visual and Performing Arts came under new leadership this year in the person of Dr. James Elson. Dr. Elson formerly served as associate professor and director of choral activities at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S.C. A graduate of the University of Tennessee, he received the M.S. degree from the Juilliard School of Music and the Mus. A.D. degree from West Virginia University. He completed a year's study at the Hochschule fuer Musik, Cologne, Germany, under a Fulbright scholarship.

Under Dr. Elson's direction a small group of Concert Choir members toured Alabama and neighboring states during Inter-term. They gained valuable experience in performance as well as providing publicity for the college.

A second Inter-term project proved to be of interest to organ majors. Harald Rohlig, professor of organ, traveled to Europe with a group of advanced students to study historic cathedral organs there. The students behaved with their usual decorum.

The compatibility of the various elements of VPA were never so apparent as in the sparkling productions of You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown and The Glass Menagerie. Painting, set design, music, and speech and drama all played an integral part in the smash successes.

The department proved to be a gracious host when literally besieged by hordes of high school students who attended the Alabama State Theater Conference on campus. The students had a double treat—preview performances of the fall productions as well as a sumptuous repast in the Dining Hall.

Education

Dr. Henry Bonner, Professor of Education, Chairman

Dr. Myrtle Bonner, Associate Professor of Education

The Education Department, bane of all those aspiring to teach, provided the usual necessary condiments required for the teaching certificate as well as those needed in areas of speech, drama and physical education. During interterm students traveled to Fort Walton Beach, Fla., as teacher aides in their fields of interest in a model junior high school. Mrs. Parker offered her in-depth study in work with handicapped children, and Dr. Boudreau introduced students to the wonders and intricacies of the audio-visual world with the aid of new video-tape facilities. Mrs. Susan Ballantyne joined the faculty as instructor in education in the fall.

Biology Department Gets New Greenhouse

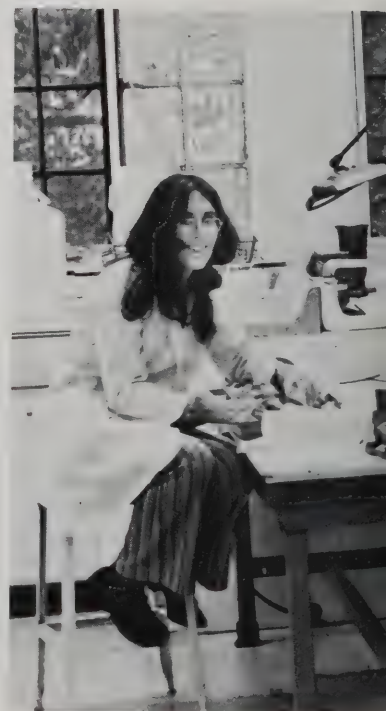

Dr. Mary Jane Brannon, Professor of Biology, Chairman

The Biology Department expanded beyond its traditional Bellingrath Hall quarters this year; a new greenhouse has been added between Bellingrath and Fairview Avenue. Construction of the fiberglass structure was begun during the summer and was completed in the fall. Already teeming with flora, the greenhouse is expected to absorb some of its cost with profit-making ventures such as the selling of plants. There is no charge for guided tours, however. Jonesboro is still being used by biology students (contrary to some opinions) for field trips, ecology courses, invertebrate and plant classes, and independent studies, as well as providing income from the sale of timber.

Mrs. Marian Parker, Instructor in Biology

Dr. Henry S. Ward, Professor of Biology

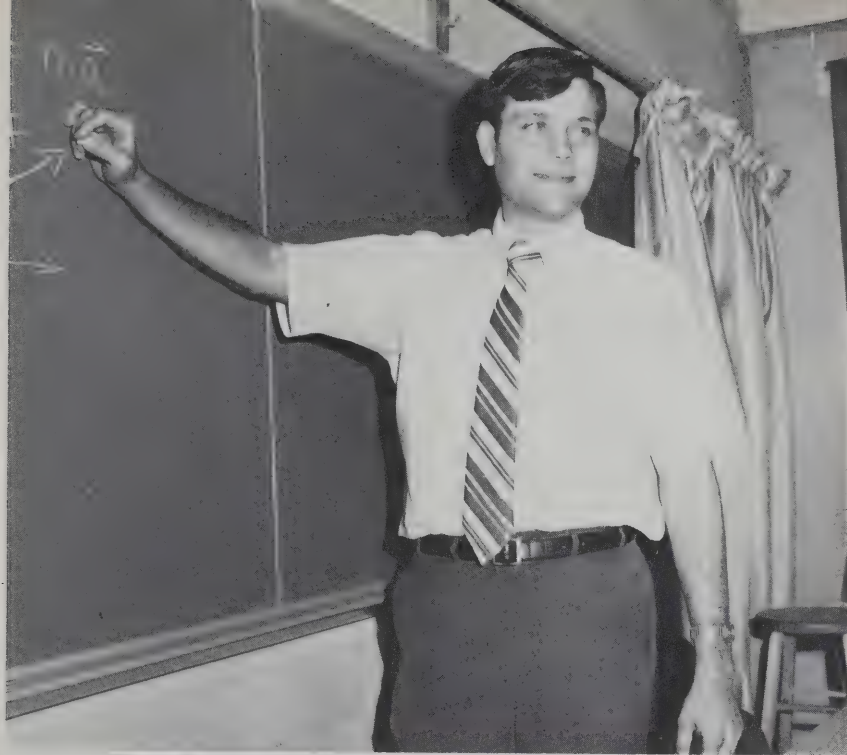

Dr. Rex Jones, Professor of Mathematics, Chairman

Mathematics

Kenneth Williams, Assistant Professor of Mathematics

Dr. Donald A. Boudreau, Assistant Professor of Physics

A new addition to the Math Department this year is a Honeywell H 1642 time-sharing computer system capable of handling 32 terminals. Funded under an HEW grant, the computer is jointly owned with Alabama State University.

Also new this year is Miss Patricia Snyder, Instructor in Mathematics. She is a 1969 honor graduate of Huntingdon and received her M.S. degree in statistics from Florida State University in 1971.

Returning this year is Kenneth Williams, Assistant Professor of Mathematics, who has been on a leave of absence to work toward his doctoral degree.

Miss Patsy Snyder, Instructor in Mathematics

Physical Sciences

Behavioral Sciences

New to the Sociology Department is Dr. Arthur S. Y. Chen, Visiting Professor in Sociology. Dr. Chen is teaching at Huntingdon and at Alabama State University under the cooperative instructional program of a federal Title III grant. A native of Foochow, China, he received his Ph.D. from the University of Southern California. His articles have been published in leading professional journals in the United States and Japan, and in 1950 he received a presidential invitation to attend the First National Conference on Aging held in Washington, D.C.

Rehabilitation in Alabama Prisons was the title of Dr. Thomas Staton's Inter-term offering. A seminar on personal adjustment counseling and rehabilitation methods for prison inmates, the course was conducted by the staff of the Rehabilitation Research Foundation located at Draper Correctional Center.

Dr. Thomas F. Staton, Professor of Psychology, Chairman

Dr. Lucille Bridges, Associate Professor of Psychology

Mrs. Frances Armstrong, Instructor in Psychology

Dr. Arthur Chen, Visiting Professor in Sociology

Charles Beverly, Associate Professor in Social Welfare

James Henry Henderson, Instructor in Business

Economics and Business

Paul B. Jones, Professor of Finance

The Department of Economics and Business continued to prepare students to go forth to apply wisdom in business management. The department offered students three majors—economics, accounting, and business administration.

An outstanding interterm project was offered by Mr. Floyd. Entitled Modern Radical (Extremist) Thought, the interterm was a study of those thinkers who seem to have discernible impact on American political, social, and economic values and policies.

A somewhat less elevated, but nevertheless useful, course was offered by Mrs. Foster. Typewriting was designed to provide students with an essential skill in education, business, the professions, and personal pleasure. Although the students had to provide their own typewriters, many still eagerly sought the skills provided in the course.

HONORARIES

WHO'S WHO in American Universities and Colleges

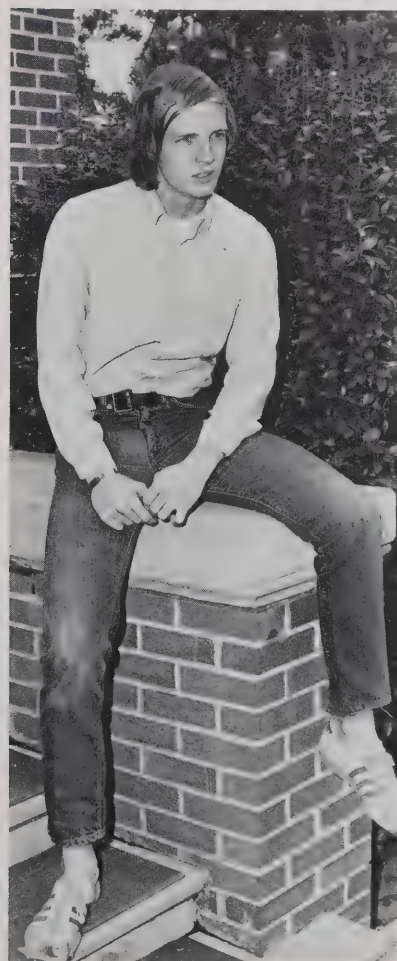

Michael Stephen Morris (Steve) has convulsed private audiences with small asides and quips for his four years at Huntingdon. In addition to this accomplishment, he was a member of the Young Republicans and the Methodist Student Movement during his freshman year. His sophomore year, he joined the Huntingdon Athletic Association. An enthusiastic supporter of WHCR, he was instrumental in the continued operation of the campus radio station. His senior year he was elected President of the HAA and served that organization as representative to the Student Government Association Senate. Also the Vice President of Searcy Hall, he is a secondary education major.

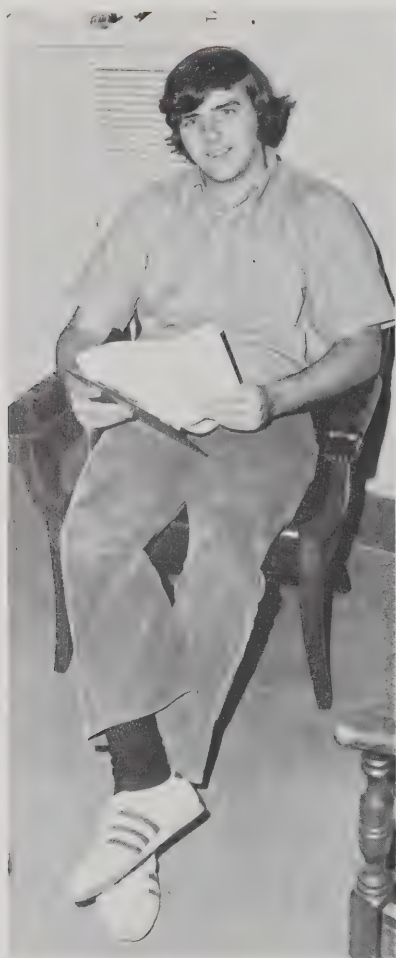

Janice Ruth Pylant (Jan) followed a varied college career. Her freshman year she was a member of the Huntingdon Athletic Association and wrote for the GARGOYLE. The following year she served on Student Court and was editor of the then-massive Sports section of the BELLS

AND POMEGRANATES. Her junior year she was elected as a Senator from the HAA and was also selected for membership in the International Relations Club. Serving as an outstanding senior class president, she is a physical education major.

Norman Richard Byrd (Richard) entered Huntingdon with the distinction of being a charter member of the Huntingdon Scholars. He distinguished himself his freshman year by writing vigorous and timely sports articles for the GARGOYLE. Richard joined the Huntingdon Athletic Association during his sophomore year and also worked on the staff of the BELLS AND POMEGRANATES. His junior year, Richard earned a letter in Varsity Tennis, was chosen for membership in the International Relations Club, and was elected President of the HAA. He was the SGA Senate representative from this last organization. He became increasingly active his senior year, serving as Sports Editor of the GARGOYLE, member of the H Club, and as President of Ligon Hall. He is a history major.

James Cecil Bost, Jr. (Jim) opened an illustrious college career with an astonishing musical performance in the orchestra of Oklahoma. Discovering athletics the same year, he became a member of the Huntingdon Athletic Association and began a three-year membership with the Huntingdon Golf Team. During his sophomore year, Jim was a member of the Pep Band, Biology Club, Homecoming Committee, and BELLS AND POMEGRANATES staff—and he still found time to play in another orchestra. This time the musical was Cabaret. Jim's junior year found him absorbed largely with biology lab work (before he became a history major) but he still found time for cheerleading. To round off his college years, Jim was chosen as Parliamentarian for the Student Government Association and was also elected Secretary of Ligon Hall. And the last anyone heard, he was still a cheerleader.

Maretta Elaine Roy (Maretta) has the unique distinction of having served as Vice-President of her class every year. In addition, during her sophomore year she was chosen as a class favorite. While she was a junior, Maretta was Worship Chairman for the Huntingdon Christian Council, Treasurer of the Huntingdon Athletic Association, and was again chosen as a Class Favorite. She was also selected for membership in the International Relations Club. Her senior year, Maretta served ably as President of the HCC and was again Treasurer of the HAA. A fitting climax to her last year was her selection as All Star Queen. She is a religion and philosophy major.

Scott McKneely Harmon (Scott) accomplished absolutely nothing during his freshman year, but rapidly made up for lost time. A history major, his sophomore year he was a member of the Student Government Association Senate, representative to the Special Activities Council, member of the Pep Band, and Associate Editor of the GARGOYLE. During that year he was also selected for membership in Chi Delta Phi, national literary sorority. His junior year, Scott was

Secretary of the Young Republicans and a member of Playmakers. The same year he was Homecoming Chairman and was selected for membership in the International Relations Club. He served during his senior year as Editor of the BELLS AND POMEGRANATES (you knew it was coming), Chairman of the Publications Union Board, and was Publications representative to the SGA Senate. He also holds the dubious distinction of having played in the orchestras of all the college musicals except one.

David Lamar Goodman (David) showed tendencies as a joiner and doer as early as his freshman year. Entering as one of the first group of Huntingdon Scholars, during his first year he became one of the mainstays of the short-lived Pep Band and also became a member of the Chemistry Club and the Math Club. His sophomore year he was tapped for membership in the International Relations Club. Expanding his horizons during his junior year, he joined the Biology Club and was elected President of the Chemistry Club. That same year he became the first Job Placement Officer of the Student Government Association. He served with distinction as the President of the Student Government Association during his senior year, as well as joining the Circle K Club. A pre-med major, his outstanding record gained him membership in the prestigious Huntingdon Marshals.

Kathryn Booth Towry (Kathy) first gained widespread attention during her freshman year as being the most active cheerleading mascot the college had ever seen. Among her more mundane accomplishments that year were membership in the Huntingdon Athletic Association and in the Math Club. While she was a sophomore, she served as a member of the Student Court and as a representative to the Homecoming Committee. A pre-med major, she held her first campus-wide office as Treasurer of the Student Government Association during her junior year. Her final year was spent as SGA Vice President of Elections and as a member of the International Relations Club. She was also (for a short while) Chairman of the Honor Court.

John Russell Reese (John) has served Huntingdon College in sundry ways. A Huntingdon Scholar, he served with great ability on the staff of the GARGOYLE his freshman year. He was a member of the Student Government Association Senate during his sophomore year. The next year he served as a member of the Student Court, as Treasurer of Searcy Hall, and was selected for membership in the International Relations Club. Moving to Ligon Hall his senior year, he rapidly gained prominence as the first Treasurer of that dormitory who kept accurate books. During his last year, he was elected President of the IRC and was chosen for membership in the highly selective Huntingdon Marshals. A history major, he was elected Judicial Investigator, thereby becoming one of the most popular seniors on campus.

Grace Elizabeth Crowell (Libba) showed her greatest achievements in the literary field. An English major, Libba was a member of Scribblers during her freshman year. Her sophomore year she worked on the staff of the PRELUDE and was selected for membership in Chi Delta Phi, national literary sorority. Her junior year was spent as the chairman of the Publications Union Board and as the representative of that body to the Student Government Association Senate. She was also the tireless editor of the BELLS AND POMEGRANTES. Her senior year was spent in the non-literary pursuits of membership in the SGA Senate by virtue of being the President of Pratt Hall and also in the successful planning and execution of Homecoming as Chairman.

Edward Bruce Fitzgerald (Bruce) succeeded throughout his college career in capitalizing on what to most people would be a definite liability—having Eight Mile, Alabama, as a home town. He is, however, remembered for more important achievements also. A religion and philosophy major, he served during his sophomore year as a representative to the Student Government Association Senate and as a staff writer for the GARGOYLE. His junior year he showed great finesse in handling the difficult job of Vice President of Elections, as well as being a member of the Huntingdon Christian Council and the International Relations Club. His Senior year he was chosen as Senator from the HCC and was elected Vice President of the IRC. A final distinction—he is the only person from Eight Mile ever to be chosen for Who's Who.

ALPHA BETA

Alpha Beta is an honorary society for upperclassmen who have achieved excellence in scholarship. The stringent requirements for admission to the society limited the number of eligible students to six this year. It continues to be the most highly coveted scholastic award at Huntingdon.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Eleven seniors were admitted to Sigma Sigma Sigma, Huntingdon College honorary for scholarship, spirit, and service to the college. Grade point, SGA activity points, and college records combined with the Honors Committee's subjective knowledge about the students served as the bases for selection.

The traditional service—complete with candles, scrolls, speeches by the President and the Deans of the College, and the passing of the mantles—was followed by a reception in the President's office for parents, faculty, and students.

The International Relations Club is made up of seniors and juniors who are selected on the bases of high scholastic achievement and an interest in international affairs and cooperation for world peace.

Sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, the club held monthly meetings to hear speakers such as Dr. Joseph Cherba, who spoke on Near Eastern problems with special emphasis on Israel, and Dr. Nibodnh Sashidorn, visiting lecturer from Thailand, who spoke on the situation in Indochina.

Officers of the International Relations Club were John Reese, President; Bruce Fitzgerald, First Vice President; Kathy McClelland, Second Vice President; McGrath Thomas, Secretary; and Andrew Hudgins, Treasurer.

Chi Delta Phi, creative writing sorority, again this year belied its nomeclature by including men in its ranks.

Activities of the group consisted of frequent meetings in which work of the members was read and subjected to the scrutiny of the entire group. Frank and sometimes brutal assessments followed.

New members were chosen by means of membership drives in which applicants submitted manuscripts for examination by the members of the honorary society. The manuscripts were evaluated on the bases of creativity and literary promise, with the resulting new members being tapped formally in the Tap Day convocation.

KAPPA PI

Kappa Pi is a national honorary art fraternity which was organized in 1938. The purpose of the fraternity is to promote greater interest in the knowledge and appreciation of art. Membership is based on artistic and academic excellence.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

Alpha Psi Omega is a national honorary dramatic fraternity which has been in existence at Huntingdon since 1929. This fraternity recognizes students who have attained a high standard of work in dramatics and provides fellowship for those interested in the college theatre.

Seated: Margaret Jones, Charles Stephenson. Standing: Pam Newman, Nancy Keator, Del Pitzer.

ALPHA MU GAMMA

Alpha Mu Gamma is the national foreign language collegiate honorary. Founded in 1931, the Zeta Eta chapter at Huntingdon is for those students who have either lived in a foreign country or have attained high scholastic achievement in the learning of a foreign language. This organization promotes the study of foreign languages and cultural understanding of various countries.

BETA BETA BETA

Beta Beta Beta and Lambda Tau are honorary societies which originate in the Biology Department. Beta Beta Beta is a national biological fraternity which installed its Beta Nu chapter at Huntingdon in 1946. Membership in the society consists of those students having an active interest in biology and having completed three term courses in biological sciences. Members must possess a grade point ratio of 3.00 or above in biology.

Lambda Tau is a national honorary society for outstanding students majoring in pre-medical technology. The aim of the society is to give its members practical experience as well as a chance for fellowship with other members of their chosen profession.

LAMBDA TAU

HUNTINGDON MARSHALS

Seated: Elizabeth Dyson, Karen Screws. Standing: Paul Hiebel, Dan DeVaughn, Windell Neal, Alfred Williams, Jeanne Ussery, David Goodman, Andrew Hudgins, Paul Kositzka.

The Huntingdon Marshals are selected from among students in the rising senior class on the basis of academic record and willingness to serve. They serve as official College hosts and hostesses at graduation and other College functions.

HUNTINGDON SCHOLARS

The Huntingdon Scholars are recipients of $1000 scholarships which are awarded by the College on the basis of testing and financial need. Although the scholarship is initially for the freshman year, it is renewable in succeeding years provided there is good academic performance and financial need is demonstrated.

Executive Cabinet

The Executive Cabinet is composed of the President, Vice-President in Charge of Elections, Vice-President in Charge of Activities, the Secretary, and the Treasurer of the Student Government Association. The purpose of the body is to prepare for the consent of the Senate those proposals and recommendations that are considered beneficial for the welfare of the student body. In addition, the Cabinet sits in on Senate meetings, and although it has no vote, it does largely influence decisions of the Senate.

The Cabinet was effective this year as a liaison between the students and the Administration, often preventing misunderstandings and ill will. Through mediation, positions were clarified and a greater degree of rapport was achieved. Also, the Cabinet met more often this year with the Trustees of the college in an effort to make the student feel that Trustees are not nebulous figures floating far above the everyday life on campus.

Senate

The Student Government Association Senate—that august body—continued to be a vital voice for the students of the college, although at times this year it was encumbered by having to consider such trivial resolutions as those dealing with having the bottom of the pool painted or having soap and paper towels placed in all dormitory bathrooms.

More debate than ever before was heard this year in the Forum Room, a good sign that the Senate is moving away from its former position as a “rubber stamp” body. In addition, the Executive Cabinet no longer had to prompt or lead discussion in the Senate; the body functioned vigorously on its own (perhaps a sign of a healthy constitution).

Increased representation on student-faculty committees has been achieved, with students now sitting on nine major committees.

The Publications Union Board is, as its name implies, a group with representation from each student publication. Each publication is represented by its Editor, Associate Editor, Business Manager, and Sponsor. The Board ordinarily meets only in extraordinary circumstances concerning the welfare or policy of a member publication. The PUB, happily, met infrequently during the year.

Most activities at Huntingdon are due to the efforts of the Special Activities Council. Events sponsored by the SAC include the Presidential Banquet, the Miss Huntingdon Pageant, the Beauty Ball, the Christmas Banquet (where students enjoy an afternoon with Head Start children, followed by the feast and entertainment, as well as all dances and movies.

Special Activities Council

Officers: Tim Bartgis, Secretary; Ruthie Renfro, Treasurer; Nan Lamberth, President; Bob Hawkins, Vice President.

Rick Cayton, Co-chairman; Libba Crowell, Chairman; Ann Livingston, Co-chairman.

Homecoming Committee

The Homecoming Committee is responsible for the planning and execution of the spring extravaganza. Chosen by the Senate, the members are working with a special faculty committee for the first time this year. Plans for Homecoming this year included a pageant centered around the coronation of Homecoming Queen Maretta Roy and the presentation of her court of class representatives and Honor Maids.

Scribblers is an all-freshman organization for those professing an interest in writing. This year the organization stressed creative writing and the individualization of style by the members of the club.

Huntingdon Athletic Association

Huntingdon's Athletic Association is designated for those students interested in sports. HAA this year has had intra-mural football and basketball, a Windcreek outing, a trip to Panama City, and Hawk Day, which included powder-puff football, sack races, and various other games.

First row: A. Welles, M. Higgins. Second row: J. Pylant, B. McDaniel, J. Smith, M. Roy, D. Munford. Third row: T. Miller, S. Morris, M. Esterline, J. Bost, B. Hawkins.

Standing: M. Wilson, T. Miller, S. Linderman, L. Cunningham, J. Oswalt, B. Baggett, J. Booker. Sitting: R. Chumley, A. Wilson, G. Ellis, B. Reed, president, R. Campbell, B. Sutton, J. Lowe. Not pictured: S. Dyess.

These students have lettered in varsity athletics. The activities of this organization stem from the athletic culture.

Honeys

These girls were selected to do dance routines and participate in other activities representing Huntingdon College. They were in half-time shows and helped several local merchants in showroom exhibitions.

Honeys Beryl, Bron, and Lee Anna show guests the "Hawaiian Way."

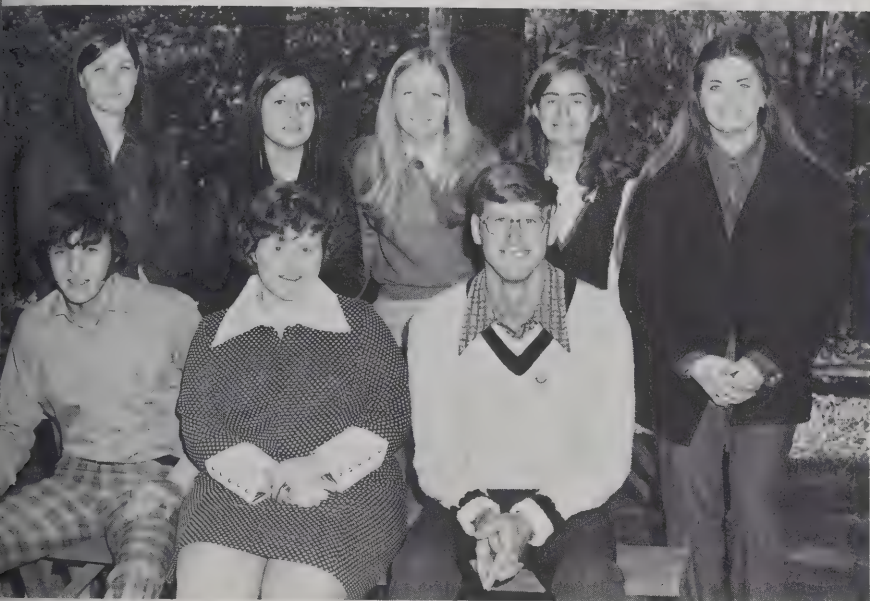

Young Republicans

Still jubilant in the blush of the smashing victory in November, the Young Republicans sat back most of the year savoring the triumph.

Huntingdon Christian Council

HCC sponsors the weekly meeting of Vespers.

The Huntingdon Christian Council branched out into new activities this year. New were the Vesper Services on the Green (until it became too cold, at which time they were moved to the Chapel), a religious rock festival, and Key '73, a Methodist movement to capture the North American continent for Christ. The HCC Auction again proved to be a great success, as was Christian Life Emphasis Week.

Baptist Student Union

Business Club

The Business Club provides service for students in the Business Department. Teaching future businessmen how to present themselves to large companies, the club provides these people with sample forms to request employment with these companies. In addition, the lobby of the Business Department has been converted to a studying and browsing area in which business students may gather. The club also held various social sessions for its members.

Officers: Marion Knox, Secretary-Treasurer; Donnie Eidschun, Vice President; Martha Higgins, President.

Theta Eta

J. Pickett, D. Lovelady, C. Isenhower, R. Head, R. Fannin, M. Zenner, B. Barmettler, D. Ring, J. Spada, K. Miller, N. Voulgarides, N. Plunkett.

Theta Eta is a club in which all women town students have membership. Several activities of the organization included the Town Men's Thanksgiving Luncheon, a Christmas party, a trip to Calloway Gardens, a cosmetic demonstration, and participation in a fashion show.

Mr. Beverly, sponsor of the group, spoke on such subjects as "The Flat Earth Society." A major service project was lending assistance to the Red Cross at Maxwell Air Force Base Hospital.

Biology Club

The cookout at Jonesboro was a resourceful retreat for those in the Biology Club, students professing an interest in things pertaining to biology. The club also made a research trip to Dauphin Island, as well as stocking and maintaining the new greenhouse recently acquired by the department.

Officers: Everett Goodwin, Secretary-Treasurer; Bonnie Sibley, Vice President; Rick Cayton, Program Chairman; Lyle Chapman, President.

Modern Language Club

First row: J. Rutledge, Mrs. Katherine Bond (Sponsor), A. Norton, Miss Sara Harris (Sponsor), L. Laue, P. Killion, N. Plunkett, C. Fairchild, Mrs. Dora A. Malone (Sponsor), N. Voulgarides, R. Deere. In tree: S. Baxter, V. Coyner, I. Fuller.

The Modern Language Club presented a variety of programs designed to stimulate interest in the languages, cultures, and civilizations of the foreign countries. Most notable this year were the programs of Christmas carols in foreign languages and the programs where foreign foods were prepared and sampled.

Sailing Club

The Sailing Club, an organization new to the campus this year, proved that Huntingdon is not quite so land-locked as had previously been thought. Under the direction of Mr. James Ballantyne, the group gained essential skills in the Delchamps swimming pool, after which they were sufficiently competent to practice on Lake Martin.

Math Club

Membership in the Math Club is open to all Huntingdon students taking math courses or interested in math. Monthly meetings are held, with programs being given by club and faculty members. Each year a trip is taken to some place holding a special interest for club members.

Student Education Association

The purpose of the Student Education Association is to stimulate the profession of teaching. Discussed at meetings this year were new methods of instruction, innovations in the world of education, and new textbooks and teaching materials.

Officers: Nia Voulgarides, Vice President; Virginia Coyner, Secretary; Margaret Zenner, Treasurer; Mary Teague, President. Not pictured: Diane Kellett, Publicity Chairman.

First row: D. Munford, M. Teague, B. Bagby, D. Ashworth, V. Coyner. Second row: J. Rutledge, M. Walker, S. Estes, S. Janson, M. Zenner, N. Voulgarides.

Behavioral Sciences Club

The Behavioral Sciences Club is composed of all students interested in psychology and sociology. The club is designed to promote discussion of significant current topics in psychology and sociology and to explore, through visiting speakers, the various applications of psychology and sociology in society, business, and industry.

Officers (at right) are Karen Screws, Treasurer; Liz Jordan, President; and Carol Sinderson, Vice President.

Concert Choir

The Concert Choir is open to all students with musical ability. Several occasions in which their talent was displayed have been singing for the District Methodist Meeting, High School Day, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, and a tape of Christmas selections for WSFA Television Station.

A group of seventeen from the choir toured southern and central Alabama, appearing at high schools and Methodist churches.

WHCR

Huntingdon's radio station now broadcasts to the public. With emphasis on campus life, the station's disc jockeys learned to be competent announcers. A new addition this year was also the special marathon programs on "Amos and Andy," the "Lone Ranger," Emerson, Lake and Palmer, and Pink Floyd.

Seated: A. Walker, M. Constantakis, D. Ahlgren. Standing: R. Bitter, R. Bernal, M. Pickard, R. Stanley, A. Woodman, D. Norman, J. Strozier, Dr. Donald Boudreau, J. Dye, V. Mason.

Dormitory Councils

Dorm Councils are elected each spring by residents of the dorms. Their duty is to preside over dorm meetings and dorm court, and to work at the desk.

Hanson—M. Skene, S. Gann, M. Knox, B. McDaniel.

Searcy (below)—C. Sinderson, B. Ramos, N. Lamberth, M. Kirk. Searcy (above)—S. Morris, T. Moore, K. Seamon.

SPORTS

Seniors Carry Off Intramural Title

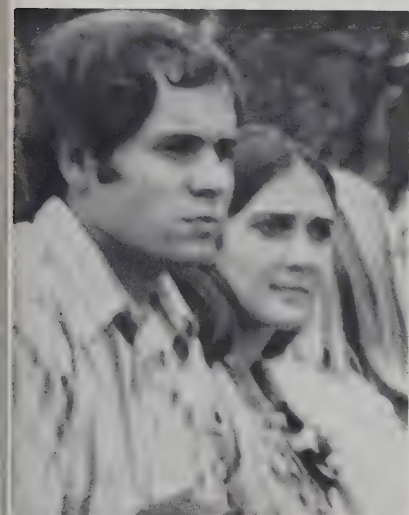

The intramural season at Huntingdon this year was characterized by a vigor which reached its zenith in the All Star confrontation. The Senior Class, having won out in preliminary competition with all the other classes, played the All Star team, which was comprised of the cream of the football talent in each class.

A large crowd was on hand to witness a competition so evenly matched that neither team could score until well into the fourth quarter of the game. At this juncture, Les Cunningham kicked a field goal which saved the day for the Seniors.

A highlight of the day was the announcement that Maretta Roy had been chosen as All Star Queen. She was crowned at half time by Steve Morris, President of the Huntingdon Athletic Association.

Final Score: Seniors—3; All Stars—0.

The Huntingdon Hawks basketball team began the season with many questions to be answered. With a previous season record of 4-16 things could only get better; the only question was, how much better?

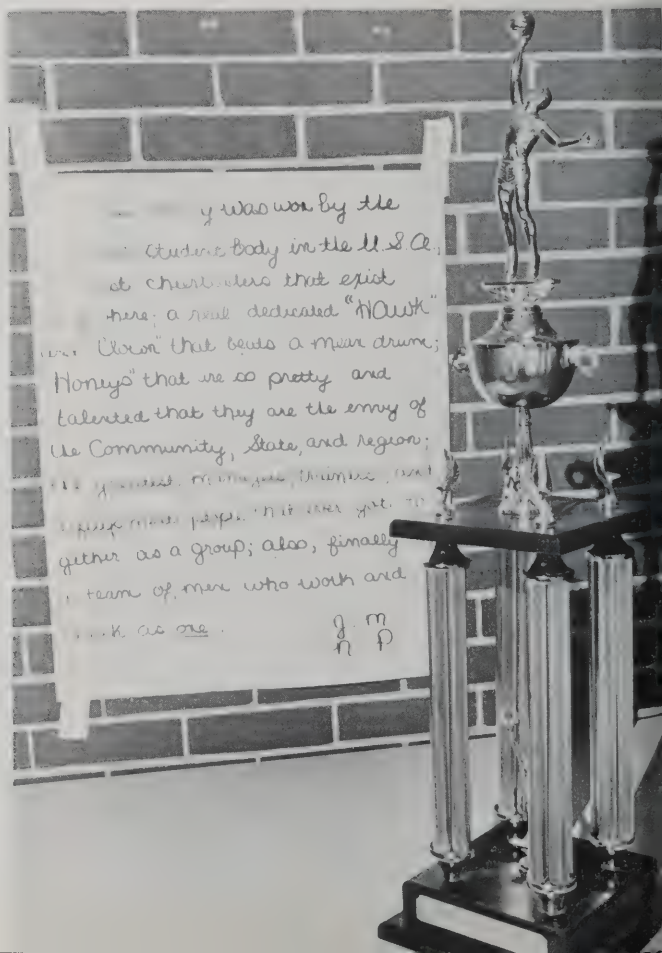

The Hawks sent many fans home for Christmas with a 4-2 record and hopes for things to come. Spending the Inter-term literally on the road, the team was away from home for 52 days and travelled 10,000 miles. A one-week jaunt to Mexico added 3 more victories to their growing record.

After Inter-term the Hawks returned to begin a 9-game winning rampage. This tied them for first place in the new Southern States Conference. After winning the conference tournaments, the team gladly accepted a bid to the Regional Playoffs and a possible trip to the National NAIA Tournament in Kansas City.

Highlights of the year included Willie Watkins' new scoring record of 40 points in one game and William Milledge's establishment of a new school record of 27 rebounds in one game. Also adding to the happy glow at the end of the season was the placement of 4 out of 5 Hawk starters on the All-Tournament Team.

Southern States Conference trophy, won by Huntingdon Hawks.

Editor's Note

The year of rebirth at Huntingdon is now at a close; it has been a good year, a year of beginnings. The purpose of the yearbook this year, as is evident in its theme, is to show the various ways the school has undergone a transformation from a dying institution to one charged with vigor and life. Many people have been helpful in the preparation of the book and deserve mention here. Thanks to the following: to Tony Carlisle for the Campus Life pictures on pages 179, 184, 185, and 187; to Rani Pace for the photographs on pages 177, 182, 186, 188, 193, and 194; and to Miss Mae Belle Gay for the Huntingdon Art Institute picture on page 186. The usual debt of gratitude is due to Mr. John Scott, photographer, for his creativity and more particularly for his patience. Finally, a special thanks to the students, faculty, administration, and staff of Huntingdon College whose new outlook as made possible this year of beginnings. They're what the rebirth is all about.
